ABOUT

FEATURED ARTIST

Moon Pappas

moonpapasart.com

Julian Luna and Matt Fries are a duo working in electronic sculpture. Their work utilizes light, sound, and a wide array of physical materials—often in their raw form, “painted” with light—and focuses on bringing people into their own experience as an active participant. The work is often interactive, but always bending perception.

The two met over their interest in fusing art and engineering—Luna coming from a background in Art Cars and Fries as a musical instrument maker. By combining their skill sets, they create mesmerizing sculptures and spaces otherwise unachievable on their own—and that, is pretty badass.

They have a lot of fun.

MORE THAN AESTHETICS

As a true neighborhood bar, we want to be a place where you feel at home enjoying food and drinks with your friends and family. But we also feel a sense of obligation to give back to the community that supports creative pursuits such as ours. This is what our fabulous plinko board in the backroom is all about. Take a chance, play a round—you might just win. Even if luck isn't on your side, the neighborhood wins because we match every dollar played and donate it to a charity impacting our community.

FEATURED CHARITY

The Montrose Center

montrosecenter.org

Established in 1978, the Montrose Center empowers our community, primarily lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer individuals and their families, to enjoy healthier and more fulfilling lives.
